Italian Clerical Organ Purports to Confirm Reports That After Pressure From Hohenzollern Family, The German Emperor Is Considering Abdication—New German Peace Terms Moderate.

ROME, APRIL 24.—(Via Paris.)—The Corriere D'Italia, the clerical organ, declares that it is able to confirm reports, published in the Spanish newspapers, that the immediate following of the German emperor is exerting pressure on him to abdicate. The paper says that at a recent meeting of the Hohenzollern family one member, bolder than the rest, intimated that the emperor might save the situation by following the example of Emperor Nicholas.

The German monarch is reported to have turned pale and after observing that the general opinion was against him left the room muttering: "We shall see."

The same evening he summoned another family council. The chancellor and some of the ministers were present.

"My wife has been a 'convert' for some time," said Pollata. "When I was initiated Georges claimed my wife as his spirit bride and took her to live with him on Curtis avenue. They wound a snake about my body as part of the ritual."

FIRST BU. OF POTATOES TO SELL FOR $25

John Stevenson, the hustling Third street grocer, has set a new standard of patriotism. Instead of offering premiums for military records, he is reserving his prizes for the arts of peace.

"There's Harold," said Mr. Stevenson yesterday to a reporter for The Tribune, "who knows the piano business, but who has never done a lick of work in the ground in his life. He couldn't tell a field of alfalfa from a tobacco patch.

"Well, Harold has rented a vacant lot on the south side of town and I have made him the following proposition: The lot is 150 feet deep and I told himself he would plant three rows of potatoes across it, tend the potatoes and dig them, I will give him $25 for the first bushel.

"The potatoes must be in first class condition. I want potatoes, not marbles. And they mustn't be gashed up with hoe marks, either. I want good, smooth, marketable potatoes, potatoes that will pass muster with the most particular housewife in town.

"He can consult all the farmers and practical potato growers he wants, but the work he must do himself. He must prepare the ground, prepare his seed potatoes, plant them and keep the patch in apple pie order all summer. It's to be a potato and not a weed patch.

"On these conditions I will give him $25 for the first bushel he brings to the store. I believe if there were more propositions o this kind and less effort made to take our young men away from work the country wouldn't be threatened with a famine next winter."

PETITIONS ARE FILED OPPOSING THE DRAFT

Senator Warren G. Harding and Representative W. A. Ashbrook have acknowledged the receipt of two petitions against universal military service and conscription from Warsaw. On April 15 Rev. H. B. Allen and Rev. E. B. Shaw delivered sermons on the subject and following the services a petition was passed among the women and men, the women signed freely and 40 men signed.

The people were not solicited in regard to signing the petitions, but voluntarily signed. No effort was made to find the sentiment of the townspeople, other than the petitions, which were sent to Senator Harding and Representative Ashbrook.

Representative Ashbrook replied Thursday that he was not in favor of the conscription measure. Senator Harding in answering stated that he was not in favor of universal military training or conscription, especially if the men were to be sent to Europe.

"MISSION OF THE CHURCH"

The Rev. Dr. William Houston, of Columbus spoke yesterday at the First Presbyterian church on the Mission of the Church. In a striking manner he declared that the first mission of the church was to develop the character of the members. They must be better prepared for the problems of the world. The second job of the church was to serve the world.

The church that was exhausted in running itself would not carry the world's burden. The church that was alive and not live enough to bear fruit would soon be dead. The biggest program ever outlined was the program to save the world. To save the world from starvation, from war, from superstition, from pestilence. The program involved training leaders and training men who could be lead.

That one half of all students who are in schools of higher learning are in state supported institutions, colleges or universities. Half of the leadership of the world is to come from these schools. If this leadership is good leadership it must be inspired by a Christ-like idealism. It is the business of the church to teach this idealism and train men for it. The people of Ohio are demanding this from the church. It is expected to interest the people of Coshocton in assisting to build a Westminster House as a headquarters for church work and a community house for students whose homes are away from Columbus.

BOOZE OR BREAD?

It is a sad commentary on us as a people that it requires the dire emergency of war to enforce upon us the necessity of eliminating waste. The tremendous increase in the price of necessities, if continued another six months, will compel a change in domestic economy not only in the homes of the poor, but in those of the well-to-do and moderately wealthy.

There is no indication that our people will be brot to the verge of starvation, as some urge, but the pinch of high prices can accomplish the same results as an actual shortage of food. It matters little how much food a people may have, if the price is prohibitive they will not get the food. And that condition has already been brot home to at least half of our population.

In the homes of the people themselves the little economies may be effected. But the government itself can also do much. In a larger way the government may, for the duration of the war at least, save vast quantities of food grains, coal and labor from going into one channel where it is worse than wasted.

WE REFER TO THE USE OF GRAINS IN THE MANUFACTURE OF INTOXICANTS. "Profit by the mistakes of Europe," is a favorite injunction of our government officials. One of the acknowledged mistakes of Europe was the failure of England, France, Russia and Italy to stop the liquor interests of those several countries from diverting useful grains to the manufacture of intoxicants, from consuming thousands of tons of needed coal in such manufacture and from employing thousands of labor units in the making an article whose use admittedly impaired the efficiency both of armies in the field and civil populations engaged in supplying the armies' needs.

The armies of Russia were not only defeated, but humiliated in the war with Japan thirteen years ago. At that time Russia was so drink-sodden that her troops fell easy victims to the temperate, clear-brained Japs. In that war the government vodka monopoly, yielding an annual revenue of $450,000,000, was too attractive to be surrendered even to the nation's needs.

The thinking, patriotic leaders of Russia knew at that time the share that vodka contributed to Russia's shame. At the outset of the present war the government profited by its own experience. Regardless of the financial sacrifice, Russia became, by imperial decree, a dry nation. The immediate good results were so marked that it is doubtful if Russia ever returns to the old way.

The war had not gone long until France exterminated the traffic in absinthe and a few months ago suppressed the sale of all distilled liquors.

England, the most drunken of all civilized nations, has undergone some of the humiliating experiences that Russia encountered in her war with Japan. Thousands upon thousands of her soldiers fell because her drunken civil population was more concerned in "beer money" than it was in turning out shrapnel and rifles and cannon. But the grip of the liquor interests was so tight about the throat of the imperial government that long before he became premier Lloyd George was constrained to say that England had more to fear from her own breweries than the German armies.

An officer of the British exchequer recently said that: "In twenty months of war the traffic consumed more than 2,500,000 tons of food supplies, with sugar enough to last the whole nation for eighty days. It uses more sugar than the entire army. It employs 500,000 workers, 1,000,000 acres of land and 1,500,000 tons of coal yearly." These, of course, were the direct, visible losses. What English statistician can tell the cost of the infinitely greater loss inflicted on the nation by depleted manhood, impairment of individual efficiency and the actual loss of time?

In view, then, of the food crisis which confronts not only our own country, but its allies in a far greater degree, to divert foods useful in sustaining life to the manufacture of intoxicants is one of the biggest leaks in our whole economic system. It is just as big a leak in peace as it is in war, but in normal times many of our people have failed, or refused, to see it. But the war has put to us straight the choice between BREAD and BOOZE.

American distilleries produce about 180,000,000 gallons of spirits a year, using more than 30,000,000 bushels of grain and thousands of tons of molasses and sugar. American breweries market annually 65,000,000 barrels of beer and other malt liquors—more than 2,000,000,000 gallons—consuming scores of millions of bushels of barley, maize, rice and wheat. France will need 130,000,000 bushels of American grain this year—and far more than that will be turned into booze unless the people stop the waste. Belgium could be fed for a year on the grain we make into whisky.

The grain used in the liquor industry of the United States would make 11,000,000 loaves of bread every day in the year—enough to supply the combined armies of France and Great Britain and America when we take the field. Which are we for—BOOZE or BREAD?

The question is taking hold upon the minds of the people and their leaders, yet its full significance is not now realized. The house Democratic caucus, after declaring for war-time prohibition by a vote of 87 to 40, rescinded the action under political pressure. It is announced unofficially that "the president and his advisers believe that present conditions do not warrant the placing of the country on a dry basis." And the secretary of agriculture, while making drastic recommendations for government control of food, offers only this feeble comment upon the greatest single source of food waste:

> Some of the European nations have obtained a considerable addition to the food supply either by reducing the production of malt liquors or by reducing or prohibiting the production of distilled liquors.

The waste of food in liquor is not the only evil which threatens. Man-power is a vital factor in national defense—the farms and indispensable industries are clamoring for labor, while 65,000 men are engaged in making booze. Fuel is scarce, with prices rising, and malt liquor establishments alone burn 3,000,000 tons of coal a year, besides coke, wood and gas. Transportation facilities are overtaxed, while 2,500,000 tons of liquor are carried annually on the railroads; with the transport of the raw materials added, this means 160,000 carloads. These are simply additional items in the pressing problems of "BOOZE or BREAD?"

In times of peace and plenty, evils which are manifest are tolerated and grow powerful. But war, the supreme test of a nation's capacity, relentlessly assesses values and compels settlement of issues long ignored or only half met. Liquor has always been an excrescence, a weakening, worthless and devitalizing influence; now, when the country stands in peril and faces want, it is revealed as an unendurable menace.

National prohibition for the terms of the war is demanded as an elementary measure of national efficiency and defense. A proposal to send to Germany the grain needed by France and Great Britain would be as patriotic and rational as the permitting of the same amount of food to be consumed in making liquor.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

A PETITION.

Editor The Tribune:

Will you please give space to the following in your valued publication:

Winburne, Pa., April 21, 1917.

To The Press And
Citizens of the United States:

Whereas: In the present critical situation the drink traffic has become a greater menace than ever to our country, in that it is found to be the basis of practically every breach of loyalty, and

Whereas: Our communities are more menaced today thru the activities arising therefrom, and

Whereas: In justice to them and protection to ourselves from abusers of their statutory privileges, be it

Resolved: That we petition the President of the United States of America to use the power vested in him by law to prohibit the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors in our country and possessions for the duration of the war, and be it further

Resolved: That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the several Press Associations for publication, and that we ask the loyal citizens of the country to join with us at once in concerted action to this end, directing their attention to the beneficial effects of prohibition as instituted in the warring countries of Europe.

Respectfully submitted.

W. D. Hoover, Chairman.

Rev. C. W. Maus,
J. M. Laurie,
A. E. Hess,
W. D. Dukeman,
R. H. Sommerville.

We would suggest the following as a universal form of petition to be used:

To Hon. Woodrow Wilson, President,
United States of America,
Washington, D. C.

Mr. President:

We, the undersigned citizens and residents of the United States of America, deeming it vital to the interests of the country at this time, that the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors be prohibited, do respectfully petition you, to use the power vested in you as President of the United States of America, to declare their manufacture and sale prohibited for the period of the war, in the United States and its possessions—And we shall ever pray.

W. D. HOOVER.

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW MAN NOW"

Lancaster Lensmaker Says Change Is Due to Tanlac.

SURE IT WILL HELP OTHERS

"I know Tanlac will help others as it helped me. That's why I take the trouble to tell my experience publicly," said E. C. Brook, 208 South Broad street, journeyman lensmaker, considered by his fellow workmen one of the topnotchers in the glass industry.

"It used to be that when I got up in the morning I was as tired as when I went to bed. What I ate didn't taste good to me, and after meals I would often fill up with gas. My breath was sour—so much so as to embarrass me at times.

"I didn't sleep well, and I had no appetite whatever. I couldn't just lay a hand on what was bothering me, but I felt half sick all the time.

"But all that was before I tried Tanlac. I had heard so much about it I thought I would try it. I'm certainly glad I did, for I feel like a new man.

"Tanlac seemed to take right hold of my case. It wasn't long before I could eat a hearty meal three times a day. Sleep means something to me nowadays. I get eight hours a night, and it takes a lot of noise to wake me up before morning. My whole system has been toned up."

"I think so much of Tanlac that I want every one who feels as I did to try it. I know it will help them."

Tanlac may be obtained in Coshocton at Pace & Lorenz, Druggists.

Little importance is attached to this story in Italian political circles. In these quarters it is thot that the story has a German origin and is put out with the intention of influencing opinion.

NEW PEACE TERMS MODERATE.

In an obscure corner of its issue of Monday the General Anzeiger of Dusseldorf publishes a Berlin press dispatch that at a reception to foreign journalists in Berlin "the most reassuring declarations" were given out concerning the democratic character of the new position as evidenced by the proposed legislation. In fact, it was said, "democracy is on the march."

Nothing was said about Germany's war aims except the general statement that "the world will be astonished by the moderation of the German peace terms."

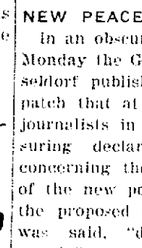

So far as can be learned, this information appears in no other German newspaper.

DEMANDS INDEMNITY.

COPENHAGEN, APRIL 24. (Via London.)—George Bernhardt, editor of the Berlin Vossische Zeitung and a member of the inner councils of the radical party, takes issue with those Socialists who advocate peace on the basis of no indemnity and no annexations. Herr Bernhard declares that the future of Germany will be gravely compromised if the country is compelled to bear the burden of a war debt of $30,000,000,000.

The Berlin editor insists that the occupied territory in the east and west must under no conditions be surrendered without an attempt to negotiate an indemnity. He demands that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg state plainly what peace terms he proposes.

As minister of labor in the Clemenceau cabinet, he passed the workers' pension law thru parliament.

K. Of C's Aid Enlistments

George Bordenkircher, Grand Knight of Coshocton Council, 994, Knights of Columbus, has received word from the supreme secretary that it has been decided to remove the disability of sailors and soldiers as extra-hazardous risks, until further action of the board. This will be an aid to the government in recruiting, by extending insurance to men going to war.

The order further holds that any membership ensuing in military or naval service with any power at war against this country shall forfeit membership.

No Effort Made To Dodge Taxes

County Auditor F. C. McCullough stated Tuesday to The Tribune that he was much gratified by the ready response taxpayers were making to the plea that they turn in the personal property assessment blanks early.

From 700 to 800 taxpayers are daily making their returns according to best records. Of 100 returns received Tuesday by mail all except one had been sworn to before a notary public or other person qualified to administer the oath. It was said that so far there has been no evidence of attepts at tax-dodging.

These farmers will assist Mr. Knowles in co-operating with the agriculturists of the county. Mr. Knowles stated Tuesday evening that it is not the purpose of the food commissioners to tell the farmer what to plant nor how to plant, but to aid the farmers in securing plenty of seed and farm hands. Mr. Knowles requests any farmer who has more seed than he needs to notify one of the assistants or call directly to Mr. Knowles. Farmers who need seed and help have been requested to do likewise.

Mr. Hutchinson and a corp of lecturers will deliver addresses at each grange in the county. The secretary of each grange in the county will be asked to forward to Mr. Knowles the date of their respective meetings as soon as possible. It is necessary that Mr. Hutchinson know the the date of the meeting at least one week ahead. Mr. Hutchinson will deliver his first address Thursday evening at the Walhonding grange meeting.

Within a few days Mr. Knowles will send to each farmer in the county a blank to be filled out and returned, stating the number and kind of help needed for the cultivation of an increased crop.

"I am not an army officer detailed to tell farmers just what they shall do and what they shall leave undone Our purpose is to help the farmer by co-operation. We will endeavor to assist the farmer in securing proper seed at reasonable prices, and to find sufficient farm labor to insure the proper attention and harvesting of the crops he plants No man will be asked to plant more crops than he feels he can profitably cultivate and harvest."

ALL SET FOR OPENING GAME AT RED SEA

George Retzler and Jay Abbott were somewhat incensed Tuesday morning when they discovered their names had been omitted from the list of automobile owners who would take part in the baseball parade Saturday.

George and Jay said they would not stop for repairs nor threshing machines when they get lined up in the parade. Manager Brice stated that it was merely an oversight in transcribing the list that their names were omitted and added: "I would not leave those two out under any consideration as the two together make a fine combination and they are sure to be a circus."

The stage is all set and each evening at the Red Sea, sees the players rehearsing their part for the part they will take in defeating Dennison in the initial game of the season.

Robert Stanger, of the Empress hotel and former umpire in the Michigan league, will assist Miller, who gave universal satisfaction in the umpiring last year.

Manager Carnahan, of the Dennison squad, wrote Manager Brice Tuesday that their team would be accompanied by the Amphion band of that place, and he has also arranged to bring about 300 fans along.

All boy teams are to report to Manager Brice in order that arrangements can be made for their position in the majestic parade. They are to report in full strength, with a banner bearing the name of the team. Manager Brice will announce the names of new teams to appear on the local ground in Thursday morning's issue of The Tribune.

GAINED TWENTY-FIVE POUNDS IN TWO MONTHS

KNOWING THAT SHE WAS GOING DOWN IN WEIGHT, HEALTH AND ENERGY, THIS LADY FINALLY FOLLOWED THE ADVICE OF FRIENDS AND TOOK PEPSINCO.

For many years Mrs. G. suffered with indigestion. She could get no help. She doctored and took most every stomach remedy her friends recommended, but got little relief. She lost in weight till she was apparently nothing but skin and bone. What she ate as a rule caused misery and pain. She would bloat and was seldom without headache. Nothing agreed with her. She would get up in the morning with a bad taste—coated tongue and feeling of dizziness. The sight—the odor of savory foods nauseated her. She passed the day in misery and went to bed tired, worn-out and hungry.

This lady read, as you are doing, of Pepsinco. She heard of Pepsinco. Her friends used Pepsinco and were helped, but she thought Pepsinco was like other stomach remedies, helpful in minor cases only.

She was finally prevailed on to get a small package of Pepsinco. The first package did her so much good that she continued their use until, after a few weeks, she could eat with a relish ordinary foods.

In exactly two months she came up to her normal weight. Today she is happy and has every reason to be so. Her main trouble was indigestion, and Pepsinco is the best preparation to be had for indigestion and kindred ailments.

Pepsinco will help you, if you have the least trouble with your food. Sour stomach, sick headache, bloating, nausea, billousness and heartburn are symptoms that Pepsinco will remedy. Don't doubt another minute, do as this lady did—get a small package and try it today. All druggists have it, or, we will send a trial package free of charge if you will send your name to The Neuro Pharmacal Company, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY BACK OF HI PRICES FOR GASOLINE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, APRIL 24.—Domination of the gasoline industry by Standard Oil interests, the federal trade commission reported to the senate today, has been largely responsible for high gasoline prices of the last two years.

The report, written after an exhaustive investigation into the entire petroleum industry, declares interlocking stock ownership prevents any real competition among the various Standard Oil companies and the commission recommends legislation to permit re-opening of the Oil Trust case to obtain modifications of the supreme court's dissolution decree.

No conclusive evidence was found, it stated, that collusion exists among the Standard companies in violation of the decree, but the commission's findings have been transmitted to the attorney general.

Prices are declared to have been raised arbitrarily, altho natural causes contributed. Pronounced price inequalities were found in different parts of the country.

The principal findings of the commission are:

That in most marketing territories the Standard companies are dominant.

That the Standard companies have maintained a distribution of territory in marketing gasoline, and that no substantial competition in the chief petroleum products exists among the standard companies.

That the absence of competition is due to a community of stock ownership

That the facts disclose advances in prices of gasoline and differences in price, corresponding to Standard marketing territories, which couldn't be explained except under the conditions charged.

That the combination of pipe lines with other branches of the industry has tended to establish and perpetuate monopoly.

That there is no conclusive evidence of collusion among the Standard companies in violation of the dissolution decree.

The commission recommended these measures as necessary to remedy conditions:

A law providing for the re-opening of anti-trust cases on the application of the attorney general by a bill of review for the purpose of obtaining such modifications of decrees as are required by new conditions.

Legislation to abolish incertain cases common stock ownership in corporations formerly members of combinations dissolved under the Sherman law.

Effective limitation of common ownership of stock in potentially competitive corporations by withdrawing the power of voting and control.

Legislation, which while recognizing common ownership would fix upon such common owners the responsibility for the acts of each of the several subsidiary companies which prevent competition.

Segregation of ownership of pipe lines from the other branches of the petroleum industry.

Congressional enactment to fix standards for gasoline.

Federal collection and publication of accurate statistics and information concerning the industry.

Conditions in the gasoline industry as uncovered by the investigation are declared to be:

Gasoline marketing is divided into eleven territorial division at least nine of which are said to be under standard oil domination.

Stockholders of the Standard companies to a great degree are the same individuals or interests, with more than half of the stock of the various companies in their hands.

Leading officers of the Standard companies hold considerable stock in two or more companies.

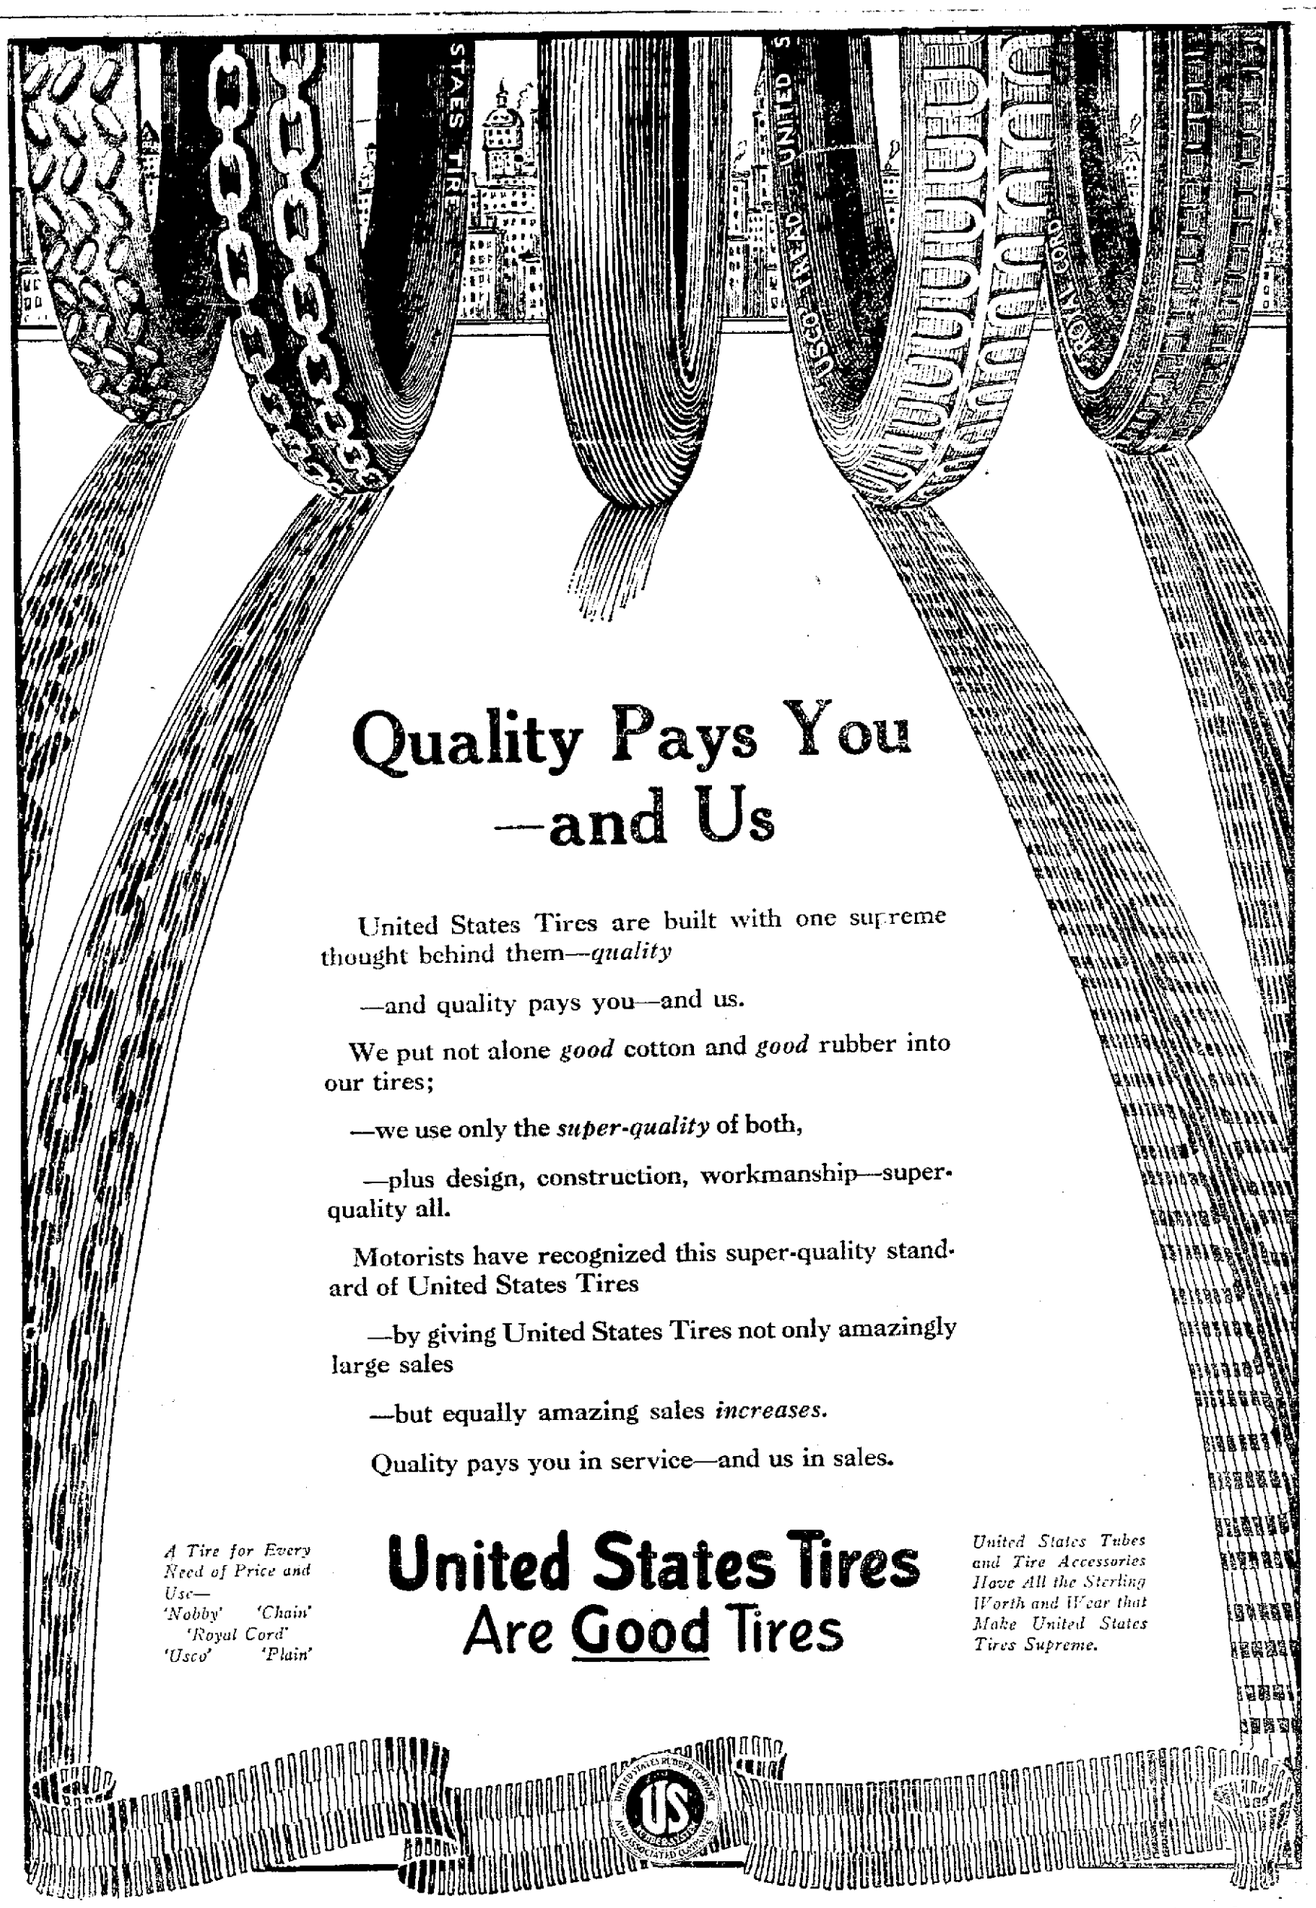

Standard Oil refineries produced more than sixty per cent of the gasoline output in 1915, sold about 65 per cent of the total marketed and held more than 70 per cent of gasoline stocks.

"Correspondence of the different prices in 1915 with Standard marketing territories," says the report, "itself points to arbitrary price-fixing. But the arbitrary character of the inequalities in price is conclusively demonstrated by the facts that as between most of the territories there were no such differences in demand and supply and the margin between cost and price was widely different in the different territories."

Wholesale gasoline price rose between 75 and 87 per cent in 1915, says the report. Retail prices kept close behind them. The part increased demand and scarcity of the product played in the increase is shown in figures giving the increase in demand 28 per cent in 1915 and the production seven per cent below the year before. The Standard books show large earnings, says the report, as also was evidenced by the enhanced stock market value of Standard securities.

New Standards.

In the new belles lettres a historical reference arouses uneasiness and a mythological allusion irritation because they are felt to be not obscure but outworn. The heart sinks with ennui at the mention of Amaryllis in the shade and thrills with pleasure in imaging the imagist in the bath. The plight of the pedant in the face of such preferences as prevail arouses pity. His entire mental furniture is of a sudden outmoded.—W. C. Brownell in Scribner's Magazine.

Solid Petroleum.

A patent has been recently issued to a Frenchman for a process by which petroleum and its derivatives may be transported without the least danger of explosion during handling in shipment. The process consists of making the oil into a solid by the addition of a solution of soap in the proportion of one to fifty of oil. This makes the mass of gelatinous consistency, which renders it entirely safe. The material may be lighted with a match, but it will burn so slowly that there is no danger of disastrous results. The oil may be brought to its original state by treatment with alcohol or other solvent.

Don't Waste Time

It's a waste of time to experiment with liniments and plasters when you have a dull, throbbing backache or sharp, stabbing twinges. Get after the cause! Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Coshocton man's testimony.

L. T. McClain, retired farmer 242 Cambridge St., says: "A cold settled in my kidneys and I suffered from kidney complaint. When I tried to stoop over or raise quickly, a twinge caught me in the small of my back and almost took my breath away. Many a time I had shooting pains thru my kidneys and had to sit down for awhile. I had to pass the kidney secretions at night and the secretions were highly colored and scalded. I tried several remedies, but they didn't help me and I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured me of the backache and regulated the kidney action."

Temper Not In-Born.

To imagine that you were born with a hasty temper is a mistake. The spirit was fostered in you from infancy. Parents often think a display of "peppery spirit" in their offspring is "cute," and the thought of curbing such tendencies seldom enters their minds. If they would only realize that they are storing up trouble and unhappiness for their little one by allowing it to have "its own way" they would discourage the first display of temper or obstinacy.—Exchange.
